How can I send a text file to a Java servlet? I can upload one file but when it's a text file it doesn't send. This is my servlet: `protected void doPost(HttpServletRequest req, HttpServletResponse resp) throws ServletException, IOException { resp.setContentType("text/plain"); PrintWriter pw = resp.getWriter(); pw.println("This is a test"); pw.flush(); }` Thanks. A: you are right to need a multipart/form-data request to send a file. One way to send a file is to create a multipart/form-data request from a file (say "foo.txt") In your doPost() method, you can use the same PrintWriter object you've created for text, and add another toString() method to the request. `resp.setContentType("text/plain"); PrintWriter pw = resp.getWriter(); pw.println("This is a test"); pw.flush(); pw.toString();` What this does is writes the text to a file named "foo.txt" (you can change the name). The second call to pw.toString() writes the the request object to a StringWriter which is then written to the file.
